

May 25, 2017

Dear AP Human Geography Student,

This fall many exciting challenges and opportunities await you in AP Human Geography. As the title indicates, this is a college-level course. Its format follows that of survey classes in many colleges and universities. In addition, college credit may be obtained if a student scores a 3, 4, or 5 on the AP examination in May. AP Human Geography brings with it a significant amount of reading. With this in mind, please plan other academic courses and activities accordingly. Every assignment or project given by the instructor is done with the College Board AP Exam in mind.

If you have any questions about the course please arrange to see Ms. Kittle at school, if we are still in session, or through e-mail. In preparation for the college-level manner in which AP Human Geography operates, you, the student, need to contact the instructor if you have any questions. You will need to obtain the required textbook and review book for the course before the first day of school. Information on these required texts is included below.

Sincerely,

Tara Kittle
Upper School History
The First Academy
tarakittle@thefirstacademy.org
407-206-8742

AP Human Geography Required Texts 2017-2018 School Year

---

AP Human Geography Textbook (Required)

The Cultural Landscape: An Intro to Human Geography, 12th Edition, AP Edition
by James M. Rubenstein

ISBN-13: 978-0-13-4270197

AP Human Geography Review Book (Required)

Barron's AP Human Geography, 6th Edition (Later editions are also acceptable)

ISBN-13: 978-1438007410