Dear AP World History Student,

This fall many exciting challenges and opportunities await you in AP World History. In the summer you will complete an assignment that is designed to help motivate you towards understanding the purpose and rigors of the course.

As the title indicates, this is a college-level course. Its format follows that of survey classes in many colleges and universities. In addition, college credit may be obtained if a student scores a 3, 4, or 5 on the AP examination in May. The course emphasizes a critical approach to the study of history. Historiography, or the study of different viewpoints of major historians, is studied in great depth. The use of critical thinking skills combined with the application of comprehensive persuasive writing is an integral part of this study of World History. AP World History brings with it a significant amount of reading. With this in mind, please plan other academic courses and activities accordingly.

Enclosed you will find instructions for the summer assignment. The due date for the completed reading and assignment is the first day AP World History meets for the 2021-2022 school year. Please remember as you consider class work load and extra curricular activities for the approaching school year that this course is a college-level course, which means that the amount of work assigned cannot be adjusted to accommodate social and sports calendars. Every assignment or project given by the instructor is done with the College Board AP Exam in mind.

If you have any questions about the assignment please contact Ms. Kittle by email. In preparation for the college-level manner in which AP World History operates, you, the student, need to contact the instructor if you have any questions. You may complete the assignment early, and doing so is strongly recommended.

Sincerely,
Tara Kittle
